DEATH CAUSED AS DOG HALTS AUTO TRAFFIC

Sudden Stop Results in Collision As Canine Strolls Across Highway

Death came to Mrs. Marie Gale, 82, 3778 Clay street, San Francisco, in Children's Hospital, San Francisco, Monday of this week, as the result of a peculiar automobile accident on the Bayshore highway, opposite the entrance to Brisbane, which occurred the day before. The victim died of multiple injuries aggravated by shock and old age.

A dog which strollled across the Bayshore highway was indirectly responsible for the fatal crash. Mrs. Galene Gale Shannon, 43, daughter of Mrs. Gale, was driving when the dog halted traffic. The car in front of Mrs. Shannon stopped, and as she applied her brakes the front right wheel crabbed, throwing the car into the slow lane, where it was struck by a truck driven by John Frank Pheifer, 34, 2349 Haley avenue, Norwalk, a town near Whittier.

The two women were returning from a visit to Mrs. Daniel M. Burns of Palo Alto, sister of Mrs. Gale. Mrs. Burns is widow of the late Daniel Burns, one time secretary of state of California.

Mrs. Gale was also an aunt of Mrs. George Dunn of Half Moon Bay, wife of the publisher of the Half Moon Bay Review. She resided with her daughter.

Mrs. Gale was first taken to South San Francisco Hospital, where she was treated for contusions, abrasions, possible fracture of the ribs and internal injuries. Later she was transferred to Children's Hospital.

Deceased was a widow of the late George Gale, who at one time was active in California mining.

At a party one evening this week, the host, N. W. McMillan, exhibited an old Civil War pistol. It went off, and the bullet struck Miss Billie Goodrich, a 37 year old guest, in the forehead between the eyes.

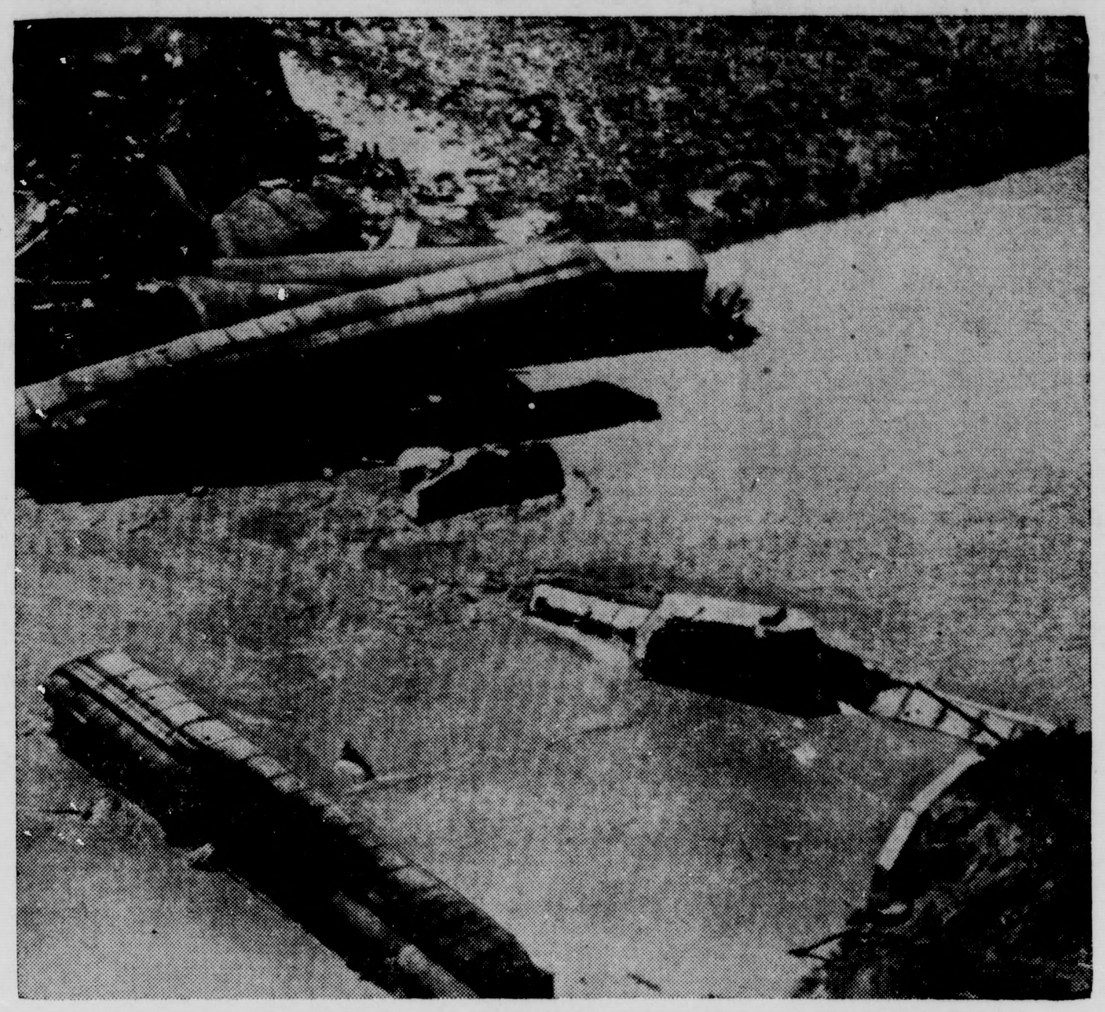
MONTANA TRAIN WRECK TOLL MOUNTS TO 50 DEAD



As rescue workers recovered eleven bodies from sleeper B of the Milwaukee Railroad's wrecked Olympian, death toll of the tragic train wreck mounted to 50. Other bodies were reportedly believed to be pinned under coaches or swept down the swollen Custer Creek. A cloudburst near Miles City, Mont., weakened the bridge just as the crack passenger train began crossing. The body of a woman, believed to have been a passenger, was recovered from the Yellowstone River near Glendive, 50 miles from the scene of the wreck. Photo shows a general view of the wrecked Olympian, part of which lies in the Custer Creek. Two of the cars lie directly in the water. The one at right is almost submerged.

Coroner W. F. Crosby Files For Re-Election

William F. Crosby, of Burlingame, coroner and public administrator of San Mateo County, this week filed papers with the county clerk at Redwood City for re-election to the office in the August primaries. Crosby was appointed to the office four years ago. He has issued the following statement:

"Four years ago, when the office of Coroner and Public Administrator became vacant owing to expiration of the regular term, and it became legally necessary to fill that office by appointment, as provided for in the San Mateo County charter, the Board of Supervisors honored me with the appointment, believing that my experience and qualifications fitted me for the position.

WILLIAM F. CROSBY

"Every case handled by the coroner's office involves contact with individuals suffering from shock and bereavement. In dealing with them it has been, and will continue to be, my earnest purpose to bring to their problems sympathetic and tactful understanding, as well as efficient service in my official capacity: In the four years during which I have been privileged to serve the people of San Mateo County, I have completely systematized the coroner's office, with no additional cost to the taxpayer. Realizing that scientific methods of investigation must be employed in many coroner cases, I have installed a pathological and toxicological department. Where I have believed it would benefit coroner's juries in their deliberations I have kept a photographic record. I have seen to it that the coroner's office is operated and maintained on a daily

FIVE BRIEF TIPS FROM NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

If you are the driver on an automobile trip this vacation season, here are five brief tips from the National Safety Council to help you reach your destination and return safely:

(1.) Don't try to drive too far in one day. Fatigue is an important cause of serious highway accidents.

(2.) When passing other cars, make certain that you can see well ahead and that there is ample room to pass without danger.

(3.) Don't be a road hog. Stay on the right side of the road and make it easy for others to pass when they want to.

(4.) Unless you feel that life has nothing more to offer, don't try to hang up any speed records. Be able to stop within the clear distance you can see ahead. This means slow up at curves and intersections.

(5.) Check over your car before you leave. Make sure your brakes, steering, wind shield wiper and tires are in good shape. Don't wait until your safety depends upon them before you discover they are not up to par.—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

The council appropriated $1000 for architect's fees.

FRAUD CHARGED IN AFTER DEATH WILL SIGNING

Jurist Makes Caustic Comment As He Orders Copy Of Transcript Forwarded

When Joseph H. Gemur, who owned considerable property on the Peninsula, died on May 7 of this year, in Oakland, his estate was estimated at approximately $150,000. It was little thought at the time that serious complications would arise over settlement of the estate.

However, litigation later arose when two wills disposing of the estate were filed in the superior court. One was an holographic will penned by Gemur in Palo Alto in February, 1932, leaving the bulk of his estate to Mrs. Oeschger.

The second will, dated May 6 1938, created a trust fund, with Mrs. Oeschger, Gemur's adopted daughter, and Charles Bonney each to hold equal interests of one-third each, the other third going to Fred Bonney of Wamsutter, Wyo., a stepson of Gemur, and Mrs. Blanche Bonney Graham of Spokane, Wash.

As attorneys prepared to "dispose" of the second will by asking for letters of administration under the first, in the San Mateo County Superior Court, Judge McNutt halted the proceedings, placed Mrs. Oeschger on the stand, and drew from her a confession that the second will had been fraudently witnessed. There was serious question that Gemur ever signed the 1938 will, Judge McNutt said.

The Palo Alto woman startled the courtroom by testifying that Charles H. Bonney, stepson of Gemur, signed Gemur's name to the new will in her presence, a day or so after the 71 year old property owner had died.

On the witness stand she admitted that she took this will to Dr. Albert H. Rowe and Dr. C. L. Mausser, Oakland physicians, for them to sign it as witnesses.

She said she asked them to "witness my father's signature to his will."

The two doctors confirmed the story in testimony that they had so signed as witnesses to a dead man's purported signature, but said they had no suspicion that they were doing anything contrary to law.

The stepson, Bonney, vehemently

FATHERS FORUM SPONSOR SCHOOL TRAFFIC PATROL

To Send Resolution To Council With Request To Complete Parks Through WPA Labor Project

Following the recommendations of the executive board, which met last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Conroy, 846 Brunswick street, the Fathers Forum of the Jefferson School District appointed a committee to plan ways and means of providing for a Grammar School Traffic Patrol for the schools of Daly City.

This will carry out the protection of school children in all parts of the city in the same manner as Our Lady of Perpetual Help School now provides, in co-operation with the Daly City Police Department, on Mission street.

After discussion of the needs of the children and adults of Daly City for recreation areas, a committee was appointed to draft a resolution to be presented to the Daly City Council, favoring the use of a WPA Project to complete the development of the Vista Grande and Acton Street Parks as playgrounds and game areas. The construction of a baseball diamond, a football field, tennis and basketball courts, courts for handball and horseshoes, and a small bore rifle range, with field houses, convenience stations and proper shower equipment, was the program favored by the group.

An enthusiastic report by the committee of officers present at the P. T. A. convention last month was rendered by the president, H. King.

The Forum endorsed a proposed summer recreation program to be worked out in cooperation with the Daly City Recreation Project, including swimming, softball and other sports and a gymnasium night for the

These play areas will be open daily between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Recreation leaders are in charge of the activities, which embraces all types of games and sports. Handcraft of various types is included in the program, along with dramatics and music.

Adult recreation is being provided through the courtesy of the Jefferson Union High School authorities, who have assigned the evening hours in the gymnasium for volleyball, basketball, badminton, boxing and work on the apparatus.

Other adult activities are being carried on for the older girls and the adult women of the community at the City Auditorium on Wellington street, where handcraft groups meet daily. Baseball games are being scheduled at the high school baseball diamond, both softball and basketball being played there on Sundays as well as during the week.

COUNTY BOARD IN AGREEMENT TO AID IN PUBLICITY

Proposal For Appropriation For Advertising Purposes Tentatively Assured

A tentative agreement to appropriate $22,000 in the next two years' county budgets for advertising the Peninsula during the World's Fair next year was reached by the Board of Supervisors, Tuesday afternoon of this week, at a meeting with representatives of San Francisco Peninsula, Inc., formed for publicizing the Peninsula in connection with the Golden Gate International Exposition.

The appropriation of the funds, which would be raised by a 1-cent levy in the tax rate for this coming year and for next year, is contingent upon cities of the Peninsula agreeing to aid financially. Santa Clar County also will be asked to make an appropriation.

Large business firms also are expected to contribute, so that a total fund approximating $50,000 may be available.

Besides advertising in outside publications, the organization would arrange for displays at the fair on Treasure Island; would distribute literature to visitors, and otherwise arrange to pulicize the Peninsula.

All county advertising would be in athe hands of the organization during the period of the exposition.

PUTTING RADIO ADVANTAGES IN OWN CATEGORY

Survey Demonstrates That Idea Of Supremacy In Advertising Value Is Only Illusion

Only 25 per cent of all radio receiving sets are in operation at any given time, and even at peak periods listener-reception never rises above 50 per cent of the number of radios in a given area, a survey of the Los Angeles radio audience revealed recently.

Manufacturers, industrialists and advertising men were quick to attach paramount importance to the survey, made in an area which, according to radio executives, is the only one in the world where the audience-reaction and number of listeners is automatically recorded.

The survey system used in the Los Angeles area involves 29,000 direct telephone interviews concentrated in the market for a period of one week each month. Calls are put through every fifteen minutes for thirteen hours each day, the cost of the survey being borne by individual radio stations and national networks.

To secure 29,000 actual interviews, the surveyors found it necessary to make 68,000 telephone calls. Starting at 8:15 a. m. and ending at 10 p. m., the survey shows the total number of listeners for the day, the number of listeners to any station during a definite period, and the number of listeners for each fifteen minute period over the entire area.

When compared to the number of receiving sets in the section, the survey revealed that the average number of sets in operation during the entire week was but 25 per cent of the total.

In a typical week, those conducting the study of the market found that peak reception came at 9 p. m., Sunday, when approximately 50 per cent of all receiving sets were turned on. The average for the day, however, was given as but 22 per cent of the total.

Poorest day for listeners to programs was given as Saturday, when a high of 30 per cent was recorded at 8 p. m. with the average being only 15 per cent of the potential number of sets in the area.

Peak reception was recorded between the hours of 8 and 9 p. m. on each day of the survey.

With these facts before them a readjustment of concepts regarding radio began throughout the advertising field. Executives pointed out that obviously it was impossible for everyone to secure time at the peak periods, and that the low number of radio recording reception at most of the other times of the day did not warrant huge talent, time and program cost. They also pointed out that other media in the advertising field, now that proper and conclusive figures on radio audience coverage have been made available, can tell their story more than adequately.

Praise for radio for placing itself on a firm footing regarding listener claims were heard on all sides, with frequent comments regarding presentation of facts, rather than hypothetical reports of the number of listeners, coming from leaders in all fields.

HUMBLE IRON POT HELPS WIN WEST

The sheepherder's Dutch oven, that useful big iron pot which is widely acclaimed by men of the out of doors as the world's foremost cooking utensil, has sprung into prominence as a result of a letter from a woman in Worcester, Mass., to the Boise (Idaho) Chamber of Commerce, asking where she could obtain one.

They are not exactly rare, and it is possible the inquirer in Massachusetts could buy a new one in her own home town for a couple of dollars or less. But, as an experienced sheepherder remarks, a new Dutch oven takes a lot of breaking in. They have to be aged in the fire. An experienced camp tender would not part with a good old oven in exchange for a dozen new ones. You "get the feel" of an oven and know just how long it requires to turn out bread, or cake, or what not. Get one of them really hot on a good sagebrush fire, and it does not cool off for days—under proper conditions.

Incidentally, Dutch ovens are Dutch ovens no matter who uses them. The sheepherder's is no different from the woodsman's, the cattleman's, the prospector's, or the homesteader's. The humble iron pot has played an important part in the winning of the West.

Fourteen unusually husky "girls" recently obtained jobs in a tobacco warehouse in Turkey and lost them again when it was found that they were young men in women's clothing. They pleaded that they were forced into skirts because girls were given preference in employment.

FRAUD CHARGED IN AFTER DEATH WILL SIGNING

denied that he had signed Gemur's name to the new will, said he did not know of its existence until he was shown it in the office of a Palo Alto attorney.

Bonney said he flew from New Orleans to his stepfather's deathbed in Oakland, reached there just before the elderly man died.

Other witnesses called to the stand, refuted Mrs. Oeschger's story that Bonney affixed the signature to the will after Gemur's death. They testified that she had told them that, on the day of Gemur's death, she had been able to guide her foster father's hand as he wrote his signature to the will.

It was disclosed that an unsuccessful effort had been made to have Gemur sign the will on May 6, the day before his death. The dying man refused to sign it, testimony revealed.

Mrs. Oeschger said there had been some discussion about the signing of the second will, but was hazy as to the details.

"This is one of the strangest probate cases I have ever heard," Judge McNutt said. "There are several conflicting stories. I have directed the court reporter to transmit a copy of the transcript to District Attorney Earl Warren's office in Alameda County for action."

Apparently, the judge said, the second will had been drawn on Gemur's instructions, but when it was presented to him in March for signature he was too ill to read it, and he refused to sign.

The purported will of May 6 disposed of the property one-third to Mrs. Oeschger, one-third to her two children, and one-third to Bonney, who now makes his home in Louisiana.

However, afterward a will drawn by Gemur on January 1, 1932, was discovered. It left Mrs. Oeschger, according to her attorney, former Assemblyman Frank Lee Crist of Palo Alto, the bulk of the estate, consisting of all the old man's real estate and personal property.

Hearing on the petitions for letters of administration sought by the Bank of America will continue next Monday.

Rotarians Hold Convention In S. F.

From all corners of the earth recently went delegates to the twenty-ninth world session of the Rotary International which was held in San Francisco, under the supervision of Maurice Duperrey, president, shown in the photo. Representatives of 81 nations met in a specially constructed "Friendship Garden" in the civic auditorium of that city. About 200,000 members were registered at the convention.

Tree Of Liberty Aflame This Week

Berkeley's "Constitution tree" was illuminated for the first time this week on the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of constitutional government in this country.

FIREMEN SWIM

The members of the Daly City Fire Department, under the leadership of Principal James Ferguson, inspected the new gymnasium and swimming pool at Jefferson Union High School, Friday evening of last week. The members were greatly impressed with the beautiful building and its wonderful conveniences.

Following the inspection the firemen were invited to swim in the pool and many took advantage of the invitation. Those not swimming watched from the balcony and enjoyed the fun.

VISIT IN CAPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. William Bolger and son Richard of Risel street, accompanied by Joseph Bolger, motored to Sacramento, Friday morning of last week, where they visited with relatives in Wilton and Franklin.

Richard will remain several weeks as the guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Karibo of Wilton.

Court St. Mary C. D. A. Stages Big Time

Installation of officers was the principal feature at a recent meeting of Court St. Mary, No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America. The following were instated by Deputy Margaret Sheean and Installing Monitor Elizabeth Reardon: Grand regent, Evelyn Weckerle; vice regent, Ida Forest; prophetess, Christine Lunbkie; monitor, Gladys Waldon; historian, Margaret Pettigrew; financial secretary, Ethel Bolger; treasurer, Christine Michelsen; lecturer, Katherine McDermott; sentinel, Josephine Pyne; trustees, Helen Rode and Eileen Walker; organist, Adele Hecht. Grand Regent Evelyn Wickerle was the recipient of gifts and flowers.

Among the spectators were representatives from every court of Catholic Daughters in San Francisco and the following members of the clergy, who each gave a short address complimenting the court on its selection of officers: Chaplain Father James Doyle, State Chaplain Monsignor John H. Cullen and Father Marinan A. Colombo, a priest from the Isle of Korea. The latter topped his speech with a sample of the language spoken by the inhabitants of the island.

The social part of the evening was conducted by Elizabeth Wettstein. The clergy, the newly installed officers and other officials led the grand march into the dining room, where a horseshoe festal board, with the court's colors, purple and gold, predominating, presented a pleasant picture. The good luck oval fairly groaned under the weight of the savory food awaiting to be consumed by the hungry guests. It was demonstrated that Court St. Mary sure knows how to put things over in a big way.

On account of illness, Past Grand Regent Helen Rode was unable to attend, but was presented at her home with a large floral basket and many gifts from her fellow members, by Grand Regent Evelyn Weckerle and Past Regent Katherine McDermott, who quietly slipped away from the scene of festivity to perform this deed of kindness on behalf of the members.

Margaret Pettigrew and her committee are working hard on arrangements for the forthcoming whist, to be held on the evening of July 7, and many prizes are being accumulated

VIOLENCE SHOWN BY MENTAL CASE

Mrs. Victoria Butterworth, 241 Los Olivos avenue, was committed to Agnew Hospital for treatment, early this week, after appearing before a sanity board in Redwood City, Monday of this week.

The patient, a victim of despondency, had become hermitical and with her three Russian wolf hounds had been leading a life of solitary confinement in her home, covering a period of eight months, when, on account of sanitary reasons, complaint was made by neighbors and the woman was ordered to appear in court, which she forthwith refused to do. A warrant was then issued by the police department of Daly City for her arrest and Mrs. Butterworth was brought before Judge Wade H. Clay, Saturday morning of last week.

The judge remanded her to the county seat for a mental examination. The case came under the personal observation of Dr. Harry E. Mason of Redwood City, whose diagnosis confirmed the condition mental. Mrs. Butterworth was then sent to Agnew Hospital for treatment.

When Officer Kusber of the Daly City Police Department went to the home of the patient to serve the arrest warrant, she appeared very violent and in her struggles against law enforcement, viciously bit her would-be benefactor. To the twisted mentality, incapable of reason, those who would render her assistance appeared to her as enemies seeking her demise. She believed her only friends were her three faithful dogs.

PIONEER ACTOR DIES SUDDENLY

While walking along Broadway in San Francisco, Tuesday of this week, Edgar J. Regan, character actor on stage and screen for nearly 40 years, dropped dead of a heart attack.

Best known recently for his major roles in Federal Theater projects at the Alcazar Theater, Mr. Regan had been associated with the theater since his 'teens.

Born south of Market and a member of an influential San Francisco family, he went on the stage on his graduation from high school, became associated with Producer Henry Miller, and was presently cast opposite Margaret Anglin in "Camille."

He later was cast in plays with Maude Adams, Pauline Frederick and E. H. Sothern, and in the early days of motion pictures worked with Charles Ray, William S. Hart, Lillian Gish and other stars of the "silents."

Mr. Regan, who was 58, lived at 280 Sixth street, and leaves two brothers — Alfred P. and Paul J. Regan.

NEW CITIZEN

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith of Woodrow street are receiving the congratulations of many friends on the birth of a nine pound six and a half ounce son, Saturday, June 11, at St. Mary's Hospital. The young man has been named Chester Richard.

Mrs. Smith, before her marriage was Miss Gertrude Brauns of Mission street.

Spends Vacation In National Capital

Mrs. Ethel Barger and daughter Jeanette of Vista Grande avenue and Mrs. Fritz Hanson and daughter Elaine and son Albert of San Diego avenue were among the guests, Tuesday evening of this week, at a bon voyage party and handkerchief shower given in honor of Miss M. Nienburg at the home of Mrs. Sweezy and daughter on Sixteenth avenue, San Francisco.

Miss Nienburg is leaving by plane, Saturday of this week, for Washington, D. C., where she will spend a two week's vacation.

BETROTHAL TOLD OF EX-HIGH GIRL

Among the recently announced engagements was that of Miss Dorothy Clark, former student of Jefferson Union High School, Daly City, and William A. Pfeifer, son of Mrs. Dora Pfeifer, Forty-sixth avenue, San Francisco.

At a miscellaneous shower, given in her honor, Monday evening of this week, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Welch, on Mission street, the wedding date was announced as July 3.

FIRE IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Closed by fire!

At frequent intervals that happens to American factories and other places of business. Gutted buildings, empty windows, a litter of ash and rubbish—these are all that remain of a once busy enterprise.

In all probability, the actual physical loss is wholly or largely covered by insurance. But that doesn't mean the "fire bill" is paid. Far from it—for the indirect costs of fire are several times as great as the direct costs.

When a business establishment is gutted, it no longer pays its normal taxes. Its employes are discharged. Their purchasing power is brought to an abrupt stop. They are no longer able to pay rent and bills. Many of them may leave the town to search for employment elsewhere. Others become burdens on the community, looking to charity or relief for support. Every merchant, every professional man, every citizen feels the adverse effects of empty pay envelopes.

Thus a large fire touches us all. Its consequences extend throughout the entire community. In time, the building may be replaced, new machinery installed and men again given jobs, But, in the meanwhile, the community has suffered an irrevocable loss in wages, taxes and business turnover.

Fire is your business and everybody's business. If you think a blaze that destroys someone else's property doesn't hurt you, you were never more mistaken in your life. For all of us pay the bill for fire—and all of us reap the benefits when fire loss is reduced.

SINNING AGAINST SYNTAX

He may be a Harvard man, but when it comes to using the King's English the President, it appears, is a runner-up—just like most of us!

The to-do over the President's English was fanned into a merrily crackling controversy by a pert Columbia University professor, Janet R. Aiken.

With a disciplinarian's gimlet eye, she has been running a fine-toothed comb through Mr. Roosevelt's numerous public remarks. In a letter to the President she accuses him of shamefully battering the English language on his recent visit to the Northwest.

According to Professor Aiken, our chief executive asserted in Boise, Idaho, that something was "just like the plain folks like all of us are." And in Cheyenne, Wyoming, the President is charged with the utterance of the linguistic horror: "Engineers are human just like I am."

Few are the English-speakng mortals who have not been afflicted by the job of correctly choosing between "like" and "as."

Once, Henry Ward Beecher—an Amherst man—was also taken to task for sinning against syntax.

This was the noted minister's retort to his critics: "When I have something important to say, the English language can get out of my way!" Which is probably just what the President is saying today—under his breath.

THE SWING OF IT!

Like the government seal on the grocer's scales, a concert in a plain, brown building in New York named Carnegie Hall, is a trademark of merit. So says tradition.

But tradition has just been severely jolted. Music's newest and most raucous voiced daughter who answers to the name of "Swing"—provided you can make yourself heard above the sound of her tapping feet clattering out the Big Apple or the Suzy Q—has now had her official coming-out party at Carnegie Hall. Its austere walls vibrated to the wild squeal of the clarinet and tootling brasses as one of the nation's most famed swing bands assailed the air with "swing's" feverish syncopation.

It's a long trail that jazz has followed from the intricate rhythms of the tom-tom in an African jungle to a high hat concert in New York. But we still can't get the hang of this point—where does the melody disappear to when a swing band gets hold of it? Maybe that's the swing of it!

CHILDREN'S HOUR!

"The Boy Who Never Grew Up" always had a case of "gimme's." Even when he was man-sized, he would sulk and pout and bang his heels on the floor. Despite the fact that the world usually didn't give him what he wanted, there was always one consolation—he attracted attention!

And a few rulers in Europe and the Orient today bear a striking resemblance to "The Boy Who Never Grew Up." They yell lustily for colonies and threaten dire reprisals if they don't get their way. And ther rage knows no bounds if the rest of the world doesn't play wet nurse to them. But, like the angry little boy with the box of matches, they must be pampered and coddled lest they set the house—or the world—afire! They should be grateful (of course, they are not) that a tolerant world refuses to smack their bottoms!

Rotarians Settle "Down To Business" At 29th Convention In San Francisco

Leaving thoughts of frivolity and celebration behind, thousands of Rotarians attended the first business session of their twenty-ninth annual convention which opened recently in San Francisco. Five candidates from the United States, one each from Canada and Newfoundland and another pair from Great Britain and Ireland stood nominated for the Board of Directors of Rotary International at the end of the session. Some 200,000 members from 81 different countries and every walk of life entered San Francisco by train, plane or steamship to attend the colorful convention.

Congressman Josh Lee of Oklahoma doesn't seem to think much of his state's university. Comparing it with the state insane asylum, both institutions being located in his home town of Norman, Lee said: "You have to show mental improvement to get out of the asylum."

ALL LOVE THE CHEERFUL GIVER

Mrs. Grace Moore, an inmate of the Crocker Old Peoples Home, Pine and Pierce streets, San Francisco, was motored by a friend, Tuesday of this week, to the office of the Chinese Six Companies, where she delivered $30 to B. S. Fong, chairman of the Chinese committee and received a receipt in both English and Chinese with the great seal of the Six Companies on it.

More than casual interest did Mrs. Moore have in Chinatown. She was born at the corner of Washington and Stockton streets on Saint Valentine's day in 1852, before there was a Chinatown. Mrs. Moore, one of the city's oldest pioneers, is the daughter of the late Capitan Martin R. Roberts and sister of Theodore Roberts, late great film star of the "acrobatic" cigar.

After hearing of the Rice Bowl party and China's suffering, she had said, "Surely the spirit of this home is reflected in the spirit of this festival to aid those innocent victims in China. I wonder if we couldn't take up a little collection—"

No sooner said than done. Although most of the inmates had to make a real sacrifice to spare even a 5-cent piece, they brought to her their offerings.

Erwin Straus of Berlin began composing music at the age of 9, and at 19 has written four operettas which are enjoying much popularity.

THANKS FOR THE SMALL DONATION

A sixty three year old citizen of Schenectady, N. Y., Milton Warn, recently decided to commit suicide by gas, instead of drowning, because he concluded it would be too much trouble to find his body if the latter method were employed.

Near the body of Warn was a note, thanking the New York Light and Power Corporation for its "donation."

Even Judges Have Sense Of Humor

Mrs. Edith Swain, 32, denied in Sacramento, Tuesday of this week, that she stole $16.50 from Cecil Swain, relief worker, when her husband said she could have $1—"the first money he has given me in two years."

"You are acquitted, Mrs. Swain," the judge said, "and let me tell you something. The money your husband has, under your marriage contract, is half yours.

"You can't steal it. Take a suggestion from me and take all your husband's money you can lay your hands on. You have it coming."

Birthday Party And "More Chicken"

Those partaking of this gracious hospitality were Mayor Paul G. Selmi, Henry Sundermann Sr., H. H. Wolff, Diva Angelot, Theresa Gianni, F. Conci, Peter Conci, A. L. Conci (the host), T. Moxnes, Mrs. Wolff, Ernest Rademacher, Alice Rademacher, Judge R. A. Rapsey of San Bruno, Julius Twesten and Chief of Police A. L. (Barney) Hilton.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

And June Brides, Don't Forget The Food Budget—Bulletins Will Help

It's so much fun to plan for that red kitchen and modernistic living room, that most young brides start out for their job of housekeeping with just a cook book under their arm, and, if they are lucky, a little experience in using it. One thing to make friend husband sit up and take notice is a business like attitude toward the very interesting task of keeping him well fed no matter how small his income may be.

The Bureau of Home Economics has a very helpful bulletin, that is free for the asking, on "Diets to Fit the Family Income." There is some good advice on what you, brides, should include in your market list to keep the boy friend healthy. It gives four diet plans to accomplish this well rounded schedule at four different levels of income, as follows:

"For example, let's take a family of two with an income of $1000 to $1200. Each week the diet planner in this family will probably have about $6 to $7 to spend for food. With a well thought out spending program she can get an interesting variety of food.

"In general, her food money will go for five different kinds of foods. They are milk and its products, fruits and vegetables, eggs, meat, poultry and fish, cereals, breadstuffs, sweets and fatty goods and accessories such as tea, coffee and seasonings.

"The first group of foods, milk and milk products, offers more than any other single group to good nutrition. A pint of milk for each adult and a quart for a child each day is generally recommended. But, of course, this will not all be taken as fluid milk. Some of it will be used in cooking. Part of it will be in the form of cheese and coffee cream.

"Getting table cream off the milk will leave the valuable milk solids for use in cooking. It may be better to buy other milk for cooking in the cheaper forms, such as evaporated milk. This leaves more money for vegetables, fruits and meats. But however the milk order is varied, for the week it will be equivalent to about seven quarts of fluid milk for these two.

"This family of two probably will have meat about once a day—the amount depending on cut and price. On a moderate cost food budget the home maker can afford the more expensive roasts, steaks and chops occasionally. On other days, she will use less expensive cuts and at other times she may prefer to extend the meat flavor by combining the meat with cereals or vegetables.

"That's the general pattern for spending the family food money when there is a moderate amount of money available. Keeping careful account of how the money is spent and checking up occasionally will help the home maker work out a good division of her food dollar to take care of the food essentials."

Just write the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Home Economics, Washington, D. C., for this very helpful bulletin. And just a tip—ask them to send you their list of publications, which includes a large number of interesting home making discussions by some of the country's foremost home economists.

Midget Sues Wife, Protests "Mauling"

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Curtis

Protesting his wife "treated him like a doll and was afraid she would put ribbons in his hair," Billy Curtis, three feet eleven inches, famed midget, recently sued for divorce in Los Angeles. His wife, Lois de Fee Curtis, six feet four inches, former professional bouncer, is believed to be en route to Reno, Nev., to prepare divorce proceedings also. Billy said: "Every time I'd come home she'd grab me and hoist me to the ceiling. Then she'd ask me all kinds of foolish questions and refuse to let me down until I answered. That's not dignified conduct." Photo shows the Curtises when they were married in Miami, Fla., January 19.

PIONEERS HAVE UPS AND DOWNS IN NEW DRAMA

Problems Of Winning The West Depicted In Graphic Picture At Alcazar

From Russian farce comedy, "Squaring The Circle," playing this week, to one of the finest modern American dramas, "No More Frontier," is the step the versatile Federal Theater players take from Saturday, when the Russian play closes, to Monday, when the American drama opens. "Squaring The Circle" has kept the town giggling for two weeks, with capacity audiences nightly.

"No More Frontier" is by Talbot Jennings of the Yale drama department. It is an American chronicle in a prologue and eight scenes. In dramatic fashion it depicts the ups and downs of four generations of American pioneers who, to begin with, leave their home in Indiana in the seventies and move to the then wild country of Idaho.

In reviewing "No More Frontier" the New York Times stated: . . . It ("No More Frontier") is a large order for any evening in any theater.

Mr. Jennings has drawn a graphic and dramatic picture of the transition in American life from the covered wagon days to the aeroplane and speed of the present, a virile chapter in the great story of the winning of the West.

"No More Frontier" was directed by Walter Gilbert. Mr. Gilbert has selected an excellent cast for this, his most important Federal Theater play. In the cast are Leon Forbes, Geraldine Allan, Phillip Stearns, Ruth Saville, Robert Clarke, Will Vedder, Richard Allan, Marion Sterly, Daniel Pennell, Max West, Willis West, Alice Hult, Master Walter Ball and many others who have established themselves in the favor of the theater going public.

Anxious neighbors entered the rain-flooded home of Mrs. Ah Quong in Alviso, Calif., only to find Mrs. Quong sitting impressively in a chair suspended from the ceiling by ropes —safe from the swirling waters.

MISMATED WIFE

GRACE COOPER

Miss Cooper as Tonya in "Squaring The Circle," at the Alcazar in San Francisco, married a youth who was apparently hungry for knowledge regarding the new Russian government. She herself was a leader of Bolshevik youth, an organizer of women and well up in her "isms." It was not knowledge her husband was hungry for, it was calories, and lots of 'em. This led to a misunderstanding and then an understanding as to who wanted who and what. Many humurous situations arise, situations that have kept theater audiences at the Alcazar in stitches for two weeks. "Squaring The Circle" closes tomorrow (Saturday) night, to be followed by the great American drama, "No More Frontier," on Monday, June 27.

THREE ATTENDED N. D. G. W. MEETING

El Carmelo, N. D. G. W., of Daly City will be represented at the convention of this order, in Santa Barbara, by Sisters Alice Oldham, Babe Schade and Helen Meyers, who left, Sunday of this week, for the southland city. The convention closed yesterday, Thursday of this week.

Hildur Eggers is taking reservations for a Kraft Demonstration dinner to be served at the Masonic Hall, Daly City, Wednesday of next week, June 29.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"The ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away." These words from Isaiah comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, June 26, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Christian Science." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you" (John 14: 16, 17).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The time for the reappearing of the divine healing is throughout all time; and whosoever layeth his earthly all on the altar of divine Science, drinketh of Christ's cup now, and is endued with the spirit and power of Christian healing. In the words of St. John: 'He shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever.' This Comforter I understand to be Divine Science" (p. 55).

ANNUAL REPORT OF GEOLOGICAL SURVEY ISSUED

Favorable Comment On Outlook For Future Mineral Production In Alaska

Report of the United States Geological Survey, issued recently, indicates all branches of mining operations are showing a favorable increase in production for the past year. Good record is attributed to installation of more modern equipment and greater efficiency in operation.

The gist of the report follows.

The minerals produced from Alaska mines in 1937 had an estimated value of $27,440,000, as compared with $23,594,000 in 1936, according to an advancement statement of the United States Department of the Interior, prepared by Philip S. Smith, of the Alaskan branch of the Geological Survey. This amount brings the value of the mineral output of Alaska since 1880 to practically $750,000,000. The United States purchased Alaska from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000.

The figures for 1937 are preliminary estimates and are subject to revision because advance information before the end of the year is necessarily based on incomplete records. The final figures will appear in the Geological Survey's annual report on the mineral resources of Alaska; now in preparation.

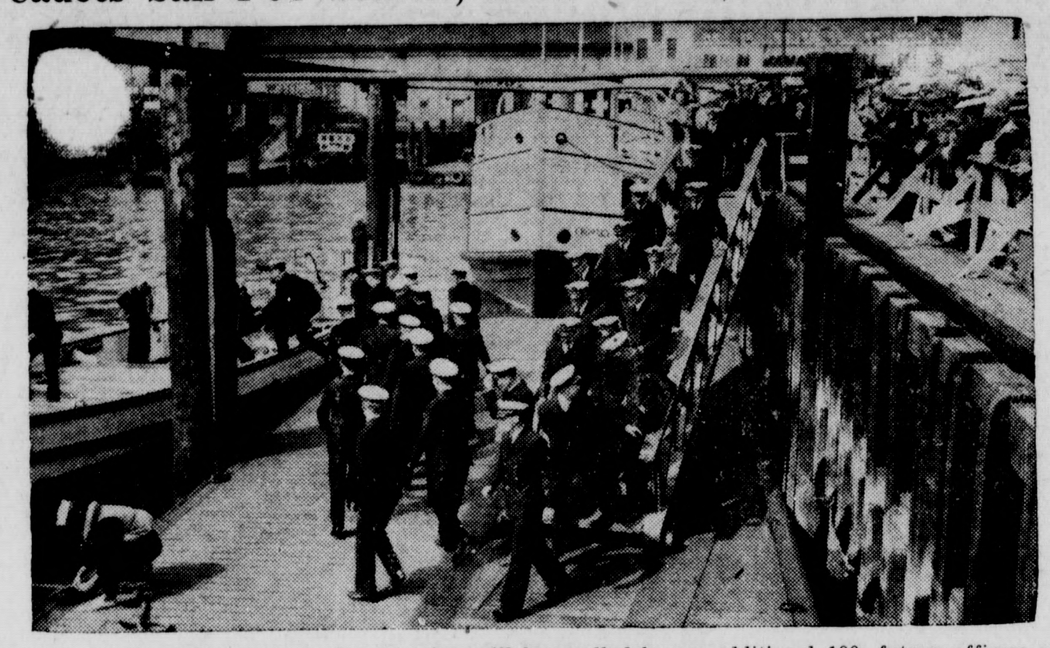
GENERAL CONDITIONS

The estimated value of the total mineral production of Alaska for 1937 has not been exceeded in any other year of the Territory's history, except during the period 1915-18, when war conditions caused extraordinary demands for most of the metals and allowed prices for some of them to reach unprecedented figures. The very large increase in the value of the mineral production of Alaska in 1937 therefore appears on the whole to reflect the general growth that has taken place in mining throughout the Territory and to have been brought about not through the discovery of some new rich deposit but rather through the larger output of almost all kinds of minerals that have customarily been recovered from its deposits. No one factor can be singled out as primarily responsible for the increase, and none of the contributory causes are unlikely to be repeated many times in the future. For instance, the prices that prevailed for many of the mineral commodities in 1937 were, on the whole, somewhat higher in that year than in 1936, but gold, which accounted for about three-quarters of the value of the output in both years, had the same unit price in each. Several new mining enterprises first became highly active during 1937, but on the other hand, many other enterprises that were started or in progress during that year were not completed in time to have affected materially that year's output, though they doubtless will be important producers in 1938 and subsequent years. The climatic conditions that affect certain types of mining, such as the length of open season and abundance of water from rainfall and run-off, were on the whole perhaps somewhat better than in normal years throughout much of Alaska, but in other parts, as, for instance, in Seward Peninsula, they were not good, and severe shortage of water for mining during part of the short open season was a severe handicap. Labor conditions on the whole were satisfactory, though in the Copper River region local strikes caused temporary suspension of operating the railroad, and this adversely affected the distribution of supplies and equipment in the area served. New rates affecting certain commodities needed in mining were put into effect by the Alaska Railroad during the year and were not entirely favorably received. Laws requiring all persons or organizations engaged in any type of mining to obtain licenses and placing a tax of 3 per cent on the gross output in excess of $10,000 of gold, platinum, and other members of the platinum group were enacted by the Territorial Legislature during its session early in the year. These provisions inevitably have stirred up much opposition among those affected by them and will doubtless influence the undertaking of enterprises where the anticipated margin of profit is small.

GOLD—THE PRINCIPAL VALUE

The gold produced from Alaska mines in 1937 is estimated to have been worth $20,834,000. This value exceeds that for the production of any other year in the history of Alaska with the single exception of 1906, which was only about $1,-200,-000 larger. In this comparison, however, it should be remembered that in all the years preceding 1934 the established price of gold was $20.67 plus an ounce as against the current price of $35 an ounce, which is about 69 per cent greater than the old price. On the basis of quantity, therefore, the amount of gold produced in 1937 was exceeded in each year from 1905 through 1917, inclusive. The total value of the gold produced in Alaska, from the beginning of productive mining in 1880 to the present, is estimated as practically $490,000,000.

Cadets Sail For Seattle, Then To Hawaii For Cruise



Sailing for Seattle, where their number will be swelled by an additional 100, future officers of America's second line of naval defense, R. O. T. C. students from University of California at Berkeley, recently boarded the battleship U. S. Oklahoma at San Francisco. After the Seattle stop-over the vessel took the cadets on a three weeks cruise of the Hawaiian Islands. The cadets will take part in target practice, riding in airplanes and submarines and viewing the world's strongest defense center, Pearl Harbor.

SIMPLE CEREMONY PROVES EFFECTIVE

Miss Florence Brinkman, 21, and Clifton Hoffman, 23, of Cleveland, chose an eight-year-old minister to marry them, Monday night of this week.

The Rev. Charles E. Jaynes, Jr., described by his parents as the youngest ordained minister in the world, prayed as he stretched his small hands over the kneeling couple. As they rose, he said, "kiss the bride."

SUICIDE VERDICT

An inquest into the death of the late Christian John Eggers, of 198 Acton street, was held at the mortuary establishment of W. C. Lasswell & Co. by William F. Crosby, San Mateo County Coroner, at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning of this week.

The verdict reached was one of suicide due to self-inflicted gun shot wounds in the head.

TALE O' THE TOWN

POLLYWOGS

Pollywogs always reminded me of an incident taking place when I was a small school boy. A puddle alive with the little black wrigglers was discovered one noon time by several of we youngsters. Boyish interest became so keen that time, bells, and school was forgotten until a good many minutes had elapsed since the last warning had ding-donged.

Trooping into the school room with Dick Cully, a chap who stuttered in the lead, we were resigned to our fate. "Well!" shouted our teacher, "what is the meaning of all this?"

Our stuttering companion was the first to speak. "W-w-w-well w-w-we s-s-saw s-s-some p-p-poll-y-." Becoming impatient for an explanation she turned to my brother. "Jesse, can you tell me what Richard is trying to say?"

"Yes Mam, he's trying to tell you that we saw some pollywogs—but they're probably frogs by now." Everyone, including the teacher, saw the joke and laughed. Punishment was forgotten.

Summertime, boys and pollywogs seem to just fit naturally together like flies and molasses. Mr. Devlin of Niantic avenue has a boy of the pollywog age—I mean at the age when such things appeal to his interest. Well, anyway, Frankie the second discovered a pollywog pool and brought some of the cute little creatures to share the pond with the family goldfish. Time marched on, as time does, and soon the Devlin backyard became a sort of "musical" center. There were choristers from high altos down to deep, deep basos. All were anxious to get on the air. Not only that, but they got on the nerves of the Senior Mr. Devlin so much that sleep was out of the question and he began to plot ways and means to quiet their operatic ambitions. A whole pound or arsinate of lead was poured into the pool with no results. Clorox was next used and the "music" went on and on. When all else had failed a midnight massacre was perpetrated, which netted some twenty odd slimy denizens.

"Now all will be quiet on the western front," thought our cunning plotter and he sighed a deep sigh of relief. His next annoyance was the plink-plinking of a stringed instrument. "Surely they don't have an orchestra!" mused the man who wanted to sleep and he began to investigate. Frankie Jr. proudly displayed a mandolin. "Where did you get that thing?" demanded his father. "Oh, I traded four of my frogs for it," was his nonchalant reply.

KEEPS BUSY ON MERRY GO ROUND

Adolph B. Spreckels Jr., California sugar heir, is to remarry his first wife, Lois Quantain Clarke de Ruyter Spreckels Clinton, thrice wed and thrice divorced at 27, her mother, socially prominent Mrs. Lewis Latham Clarke, announced recently in New York.

The mother, with whom her daughter has been living for five months in her Park avenue home, did not fix a date for the marriage.

At seventeen Lois eloped to Elkton, Md., with the late John L. "Jack" de Ruyter. She divorced him in 1932 and five weeks later was married to Spreckels. The sugar man was shelved at Reno on May 27, 1935, and the next day she became the bride of Frank C. Clinton. Clinton was divorced by her in Reno last January 17.

Mrs. Margaret Neville of Indianapolis charged her former husband with stealing an electric iron from her, but when the judge summoned her, she refused to testify, explaining: "We are going to be married again this afternoon."

OPPOSE STATE HUMANE POUND ACT—SO CALLED

Action taken at the recent convention of the American Medical Association and meetings of various allied medical organizations in San Francisco and Del Monte, brought to seventy-nine the formal endorsements of the campaign to defeat California's proposed "State Humane Pound Act," which is to appear on the ballot at the general election in November.

This is the announcement of the California Society for the Promotion of Medical Research, conducting a program of education against the measure, which it brands as mistitled antivivisection legislation. The society, headed by President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University, has on its committee every university president in the state, besides eminent churchmen, physicians, dentists, scientists and lay men and women to the number of more than a thousand.

Opposition to the initiative has been officially recorded by such groups as the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, the San Joaquin Kennel Club, the National Board of Trustees of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, as well as the American, Western, California and Catholic Hospital Association; Canners League of California, California State Dental Association, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the latter with 250,000 affiliated members.

"BOOKIES" NO GO SAY S. M. POLICE

Following an announcement that "Bookies" must stay out of San Mateo, police officers raided the Pacific News Company of 328 Third avenue, taking Walter Lyons, an employe of the company, into custody, Saturday night of last week. He was booked for taking bets on dog races. When he was arrested, $45, allegedly placed with him as wagers, was seized.

Crowds of patrons, thronging the betting joint were sharply warned and then permitted to go free. It was learned that police had been watching the San Mateo cigar stand and soft drink parlor for several days.

Lyons was jailed, but on Monday of this week was set at liberty on $200 bail. He is to appear in court this morning.

Pension Advocates Complete Petitions

Advocates of the California Pension Plan, which will provide $30 a week for life for every person over 50, have submitted initiative petitions containing names of nearly 3000 San Mateo County voters to the county clerk at Redwood City for checking.

The pension plan calls for a system of tax-bearing state warrants to be issued each Thursday to pension clients and to be financed by taxing warrant holders two cents weekly on each $1 warrant.

LIKES MARRIED LIFE

"I've never before come back from Europe in such a happy frame of mind," said Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who arrived in New York City on the Ile of France, Tuesday evening of this week, in company with his redhaired bride, the former Jane Dahlman, 25.

Harry Kipke, fired from his job as football coach at Michigan University, whose team he had led for nine years, may have been "kicked upstairs." It is said he has been given a radio contract at a much larger salary than his coaching job paid.

RURAL REBEL DEFEATS SPEED DOGS AT BADEN

Sensational Performances By Greyhound Developed On Home Course

Two racing stars shone brightly at Baden Kennel Club as the 1938 meeting went into its third week. One was Rural Rebel, a young racer owned by R. C. Davis of San Francisco, which won his first four starts, a sensational feat in dog racing.

In his appearance before the big Saturday night crowd, Rural Rebel defeated the speed dogs of the meeting. Baden officials took particular pride in the fact that the dog had been developed here, raised from the early races in easy stages to a point where he proved his ability to run with seasoned campaigners.

The other sensation in dogdom was Mammoth Flint, the hurdle dog which equalled the track record twice in his first two starts.

Seldom have two such standouts been developed at a greyhound meeting, and both Rural Rebel and Mammoth Flint have been strong favorites with the fans.

Result charts compiled with photographic accuracy from the film of the photo finish camera is another Baden innovation which is proving popular. Exact order of finish and the distances between greyhounds are taken from the film after each race.

Another crowd of 10,000 fans or more is expected to gather at the track Saturday night for the usual week end racing feature between the fastest racing greyhounds on the Pacific Coast.

ISSUES LIST OF OFFICIAL PARTIES

County Clerk W. H. Augustus, this week, issued the official list of parties which had qualified for the 1938 election and which may nominate candidates at the primaries as Commonwealth, Communist, Democrat, Progressive, Prohibition, Republican, Socialist and Townsend as announced by the secretary of state.

A previous statement was that the Townsend party did not qualify. It is said the Townsendites have more than a thousand members in this county.

AUTO COLLISION HURTS MRS. SWART

The accident occurred on the corner of Alameda de las Pulgas and Hopkins avenue, Redwood City, local police said. Mrs. Swart was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital, where she was reported on the way to recovery.

MARRIED AMONG FLOWER BOWER

On Saturday evening, June 18, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Siemund, in Colma, was the setting for a beautiful wedding, when their daughter Louise became the bride of Leo N. Kusber.

Judge Wade H. Clay performed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennis attended them.

Wedded in a lovely bower of lilies and evergreens, under Mission bells, the bride was a picture of beauty in gray, wearing a gorgeous orchid corsage. Her sister, who was matron of honor, wore blue with gardenias. Robert Dennis was best man.

A wedding supper followed, those present being Mrs. Anna Kusber, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kusber, Mr. and Mrs. C. Benedetti, Mr. and Mrs. Heizel, Mr. and Mrs. John Lompa, Mrs. Waldorf, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Siemund, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kusber and Judge Wade H. and Mrs. Clay.

The happy married couple are on their honeymoon in Yosemite Valley and, on their return, will reside on Werner avenue near School street, where they will be at home to their many friends.

Two other events were also celebrated at the gathering, namely the fifty-ninth birthday anniversary of the bride's mother Mrs. Siemund, and the seventeenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. Benedetti, the bride's brother in law and sister.

Cong. McGrath Seeks Re-Election

Congressman John J. McGrath arrived home from Washington, Tuesday evening of this week, tired but happy to be back again.

His comment was that the members of Congress worked harder than at any previous session in his experience, at the term recently adjourned.

McGrath, on Wednesday, filed nomination papers for re-election on both Republican and Democratic tickets at the county clerk's office in Redwood City.

COSTS DOUGH FOR STARTING BLAZES

They charge plenty of money to set a fire in Yellowstone National Park, so must have thought Axel Anderson and H. Bowen, both of Roberts, Idaho, when they were each fined $25 and costs in the United States Commissioner's court, Tuesday of this week.

They were charged with being responsible for accidentally starting a forest fire.

"OLD CHICAGO" REPRESENTS 18 MONTH JOB

History is slow in the making—and, the movie men have found, just as slow in the remaking. In the current Twentieth Century-Fox offering, "In Old Chicago," which makes its debut at the Daly City Theater on Sunday, the major part of the picture's action deals with that hectic year 1870-71, climaxed by the historic fire in October of the latter date. And the records of the studio show that it required a year and a half of intensive effort to bring that story to the screen. As a matter of fact, it required three months of shooting just to film the events of two days—those dread days of October 8 and 9 when the blaze was at its height.

It was nearly two years ago that Darryl F. Zanuck, production chief at Twentieth Century-Fox, decided to base a picture upon Niven Busch's story, "We, The O'Leary's." It was to be a romantic film, of spectacular proportions, climaxed by a re-enactment of the fire. Immediately this decision was made, the research experts of the studio were set to work amassing what finally amounted to 240 pages of closely typed information on scenes, costumes, habits of speech and particular mannerisms of famous charcaters who figured in the story. Supplementing the typed data were hundreds of contemporary drawings and photographs culled from all over the United States.

Thereupon began the task of building the sets. This involved construction of two cities—one to represent Chicago in the picture's prologue as it appeared in 1854, when Molly O'-Leary first saw the city. The other to represent the city as it appeared when Molly's cow kicked over the lantern that set off the blaze which destroyed the city. In the end more than sixty acres were covered with buildings, streets, car tracks and even an artificial lake to represent the Lake Michigan shore front. These in addition to vast interior sets which occupied three sound stages on the lot.

With the sets under way, there came the problem of casting. From his own lot, Zanuck drew Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche for leading roles. From elsewhere, he obtained the services of Alice Brady and Andy Devine.

CROSBY FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

24 hour basis. Since I have been coroner and public administrator, all fees of the latter office have been turned into the county treasury, making the office self supporting. Prior to my term these fees were retained by the public administrator.

"Since the office of coroner and public admniistrator; through recent amendment of the county charter, now becomes elective instead of appointive, I am submitting my candidacy for the office which I have held for the past four years. My candidacy is motivated by the desire to continue serving the people of San Mateo County in this important public post in the same progressive manner which I have employed over the past four years, and which now is a matter of record. As far as I am concerned, the issues of my campaign shall always be clean and above board. I am of the sincere belief that the electorate of San Mateo County will choose its candidate by the record of his achievements."

Crocker P. T. A. Sewing Club Meets

Mrs. Virginia Davidson, president of Crocker P. T. A., entertained the members of the sewing club at her home on Thursday afternoon. Plans were discussed to give the club a name, which will be announced lated. There will be no meeting next week, but announcement of the next meeting during the first week in July will be made in the Daly City Record.

Mrs. Kinsey reported that the advanced First Aid Class will be postponed until the latter part of August or the first of September. Crocker members will take this class as one of their study classes for next year. Mrs. Kinsey, Study Circle chairman, is planning another course for the fall, and plans to have speakers who are authorities on different subjects meet with the Crocker members. Plans for these classes will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Laura Larsen will give a whist at her home on San Diego avenue, the early part of next week. This will take the place of one of the vanishing luncheons.

The women who attended the vanishing luncheon at the home of Mrs. Jordan on Thursday helped her to celebrate her birhtday on that day. Mrs. Davidson made a lovely birthday cake and presented it to her at the end of the luncheon, and several of the members remembered her with gifts. The afternoon turned into a quilt sewing bee. Mrs. Jordan reported that the quilt was about three-quarters finished.

Freedom's FIRST LINE OF Defense

TRUE DEMOCRACY is impossible without an unrestricted exchange of opinion between the people and their public servants. The distinction between a free government and an autocracy lies in the right of all citizens to voice and print their own opinion, the right to oppose policies and candidates at the ballot box, the right to live their own lives and speak their own thoughts within the limits of constitutional law. Civil freedom in America was won for Americans at the price of battle, hardship, and bloodshed. To maintain it is the first duty of every American regardless of political conviction. Foremost among the barriers to dictatorship in our country is freedom of the press. American government will always remain a free government as long as the American press remains free from political coercion and censorship. You and your newspaper share equally in the responsibility of safeguarding American liberty. Support your newspaper—protect it—its welfare is your welfare—its freedom is your freedom.
